参考范文

Mo Yan, whose real name is Guan Moye, was born in an ordinary peasant family of Shandong Province in 1955, when people didn't live a rich life and attached little importance to school education. As a consequence, he dropped out in the fifth grade in primary school. While working as a young peasant, out of a strong passion for literature, he committed to a variety of Chinese classics and gradually practiced writing stories.

Mo Yan created many famous literature works, including Red Sorghum and Frogs. Frogs won him Mao Dun Literature Awards in 2011 and he won the Nobel Prize for Literature in 2012.

In my opinion, what makes Mo Yan so extraordinary is not only his famous works but also his commitment to what he loves.

Part 4 Writing 实战演练

One possible version:Pritzker Architecture Prize Winner Wang Shu

Wang Shu, a world-famous Chinese architect, was born in Urumqi, Xinjiang in 1963. In 1981, Wang was admitted to Southeast University, where he committed himself to the study of architecture and got his master's degree seven years later. Out of a burning passion for architecture, he continued his study in Tongji University, earning a doctorate in the year 2000.

Wang was awarded the 2012 Pritzker Architecture Prize, which is regarded as the Nobel Prize in architecture. Mr. Wang is the first Chinese citizen to win the prize.

We should learn from Wang Shu. It is his efforts that contribute to his success.
